WASHINGTON (AP)—The estimated rate of the nation's total output of goods and services declined during the third quarter from the record high set in the preceding three months.

The annual rate of $503 billion for the July-September period was $2 billion below the $505 billion rate for the April-June quarter but 21.6 billion higher than that for the third quarter last year, when business was affected by a steel strike.

The figures, announced Thursday by the Joint Congressional Economic Committee, were based on reports and estimates from the Commerce Department and the President's Council of Economic Advisers.

The announcement, brought from George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, a prompt demand for "immediate counter-recessionary action by the federal government."

Meany said in a statement that the figures provided confirmation of what he called "the third recession since the Eisenhower administration took office less than eight years ago." He said it has been developing since February, with no government action to head it off.

Consumer spending and private investments dropped slightly from the second to the third quarter, but increased government outlays offset most of that decline. Savings at the rate of $29 billion, increased $4.8 billion over the preceding three months.

Gross farm income dropped $200 million, but net farm income rose $100 million during the period, the report showed.

Economists Advise Nation Is Entering Mild Recession But It Will Likely Be Brief

Embarrassing for High Officials

By STERLING F. GREEN

GLASGOW, Scotland (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and U.S. Ambassador John Hay Whitney got caught traveling without railroad tickets today.

They were challenged by a ticket taker at the local station as they left the train en route to the home of Lord Home, the foreign secretary, at Castlemains.

Macmillan looked startled and began fumbling through his pockets. Whitney just looked startled.

The prime minister finally produced a gold medallion which entitles him to travel free on the state-operated "British" railway system. Then the stationmaster, Edward Garlin, recognized Macmillan and Whitney and they were passed through the gate without further ado.

Speculative Gold Bubble Ready to Burst

LONDON (AP)—The price of gold ended $4.20 an ounce lower this morning amid predictions the week's big speculative bubble is about to burst.

Dealers on the London bullion market fixed the day's opening price at $36.40 a fine ounce. This compared with the top price of $40.60 reached during feverish dealings Thursday.

The official U.S. Treasury price is $35 an ounce.

The big drop on the London exchange presumably resulted from

NOT SPRINGS, Va. (AP)—Industry economists today advised the government's Business Advisory Council that the country is entering a mild and probably brief business recession.

The report predicted the decline would cut into total production not more than about 2 per cent, and would end by mid-1961. The study was made especially for the BAC's fall meeting this weekend with Secretary of Commerce Frederick H. Mueller and other high government officials.

Whether the council itself—made up of the heads of scores of the country's biggest corporations—would agree with the findings of its own panel of professional economists was a question to be settled later today.

The council was scheduled to canvass the business outlook at the opening session of its fall meeting here. Newsmen were barred as usual from the BAC meetings.

Some government economists are known to agree with the private experts. Others hold that a further period of "high plateau" can be expected, with no significant gains or losses from the present near-record level of prosperity. However, it was known that Secretary of the Treasury Robert B. Anderson was prepared to tell the council that the country already has passed through its "adjustment" and that business can be expected to pick up.

Aides of Anderson said he has not altered the views he voiced to the International Monetary fund last month—that a summer sag, resulted from curtailment of business outlays for inventories; that inventories now have been cut to "workable" levels; that resumed buying can now be expected; and that both the near-term and long-term outlooks are good.

$47,500 Awarded in Lawsuit

MEMPHIS (AP)—An Arkansas woman has been awarded $47,500 as the aftermath of a fatal early morning automobile collision here a year ago.

A federal jury awarded that amount Thursday to Alice Kay Gassaway, 21, of West Memphis. She was the driver of a car struck by another in a downtown intersection, killing a passenger, Glen Wiles, 24, of Memphis.

Miss Gassaway had sought $127,000 from Mrs. Betty Lou Sells, 22, and Joel A. Montgomery, 39, both of Memphis. Mrs. Sells drove the car that collided with Miss Gassaway's. Montgomery owned it.

Fulbright Says Data Hid to Aid Nixon Drive

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House and State Department are deceiving the American people by suppressing information in an effort to aid the campaign of Vice President Richard M. Nixon, Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., has charged.

Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said Thursday the State Department has four times refused his request for release of the complete transcript of the famed "Kitchen debate" between Nixon and Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev in Moscow last year.

He said his request for release of a recent world-wide survey of U.S. prestige abroad by the U.S. Information Agency also has been denied under orders "from the White House" and "the front office" at the State Department.

Fulbright said he had not discussed his requests to the State Department with Democratic nominee Sen. John F. Kennedy,

ICC Tells Rails Freight Rate Hike Is Okay

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission today authorized the nation's railroads to hike their basic freight rates effective next Monday, Oct. 24.

However, the commission tentatively suspended proposals for various increases in special rail service charges pending further investigation.

The railroads gave public notice of the proposed increases in late September, on a basis designed to yield $147 million additional revenue annually.

In approving the major part of these proposals, the commission made no immediate estimate of what yield will be involved to help the industry meet increased operating costs estimated to amount to $600 million since the last general rate increase in 1958.

Cold Spell to Lose Much of Its Bite

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Arkansas' first cold snap of the season is expected to lose much of its bite over the weekend, but an extended period of cool weather is in sight.

The U.S. Weather Bureau at Little Rock said warmer weather is in prospect for Saturday and Sunday, but a new cold front is expected Sunday night. Its effects are expected to be felt through next week.

Thursday night's minimum temperatures weren't as chilly as Wednesday night's, when the mercury plunged to 37 degrees at Pine

Crucial State Grid Games for Tonight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Little Rock Central faces its most crucial Big Nine conference game tonight and Helena and Stuttgart square off in the Region 2AA showdown to top Arkansas' schoolboy football card.

Central and Helena are one touchdown favorites.
Helena is unbeaten, untied and unscored on in seven games this season. Stuttgart has lost once 7-6 to Benton, and has beaten the other Region 2AA strongboy Wynne. The Ricchards and Helena have identical 3-0 conference records.

Port Smith is favored over Tex-arkana in the only other Big Nine conference game. The other five Big Nine teams face rugged Class AA opposition.

Little Rock Hall visits Benton.
Hot Springs plays host to Snack-over. North Little Rock is the underdog at Conway. Blytheville is favored by one point in its home bout with Jonesboro, and Pine Bluff is favored over Camden.

More Money for State Democrats

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—State Insurance Commissioner Harvey D.
Combs offered Thursday to make a $100 contribution to the state Democratic Party's fund-raising drive.

In return he got two of the most expensive football tickets he will ever buy.
Dah D. Stephens, chairman of the Democratic Party's fund-raising drive, said he would give his tickets to Saturday's Arkansas Mississippi game to whoever made the biggest campaign contribution. Combs was the highest bidder—$50 for each ticket.

Morrilton Hope visits Magnolia and JAA power Rogers takes on Harrison. Sublime visits Van Buren in a tossup.

Little Rock Central won its sixth straight last week, 49-0 over Tex-arkana, and is a narrow favorite to beat the Wildcats tonight. But El Dorado has had two weeks to get ready for the Tigers and is celebrating its homecoming, evening up the odds somewhat.

Central stands alone at the top of the Big Nine standings, with Port Smith, Hall and Pine Bluff, each with one loss, waiting for the Tigers to lose.

CHAPTER XXIX
Before Paolo coded this information with Tomino, he read it to Luchino and Terenzio. "This is it," he commented smiling. "At the most, 10 days and they'll be here."

The next afternoon Naples sent a long message to Paolo.
On authority of the Commanding General, 15th Army Group, you are ordered to make a contact before 28 May, 1944, with the Chief of Police of the City of Rome and pass him the following instructions, with the warning that he will be held strictly accountable for their performance.

Upon departure from Rome of German Headquarters, in order to safeguard the public utilities of the City, you and the police under your commands are hereby ordered by Marshal Alexander, Allied Commander in Italy, to cooperate with the authorities of the Open City of Rome:

(a) to protect all buildings possible and the entire system of public utilities from whatever form of sabotage, (b) to capture and intern all the remaining dispersed personnel of the German armies and those of the Fascist Republic.

(c) to prevent the exit from the City of any civilians whatsoever.
"How," Paolo asked Terenzio and Luchino, "am I going to get in to see the police chief—a Fascist appointee and a German puppet—without being arrested?"

"I'd add to the message," Lu-chino replied, "Point (d): You will protect the person of the bearer of this message, for any harm coming to him you will be held strictly responsible before Allied Courts Martial. Otherwise it's suicide."

"I'd certainly include such a statement," added Rossini. "But even then—how do you get there?"
"Monte Alto is our solution," replied Luchino, "in his capacity as a citizen of Vatican City. He can approach Colonel Cao as head of the Red Cross, making a clandestine appointment with the police chief in the name of the Valican to prevent destruction and bloodshed in the passage of the City from German to Allied hands."

The following afternoon Colonel Cao and Saverio Monte Alto came for Paolo in a car of the Italian Red Cross and drove him to the home of the Chief of Police.

"How shall I introduce you?" about enemy troop movements.

asked Cao.

"As what I am—an American officer—Lieut. Paolo Macdonough."

"Yes?"

"How is your father?"

"Fine."

Colonel Cao interrupted. "Here
we are, at Conte Felano's house.
If you don't mind, I'd better call you 'Lieut. Col. Macdonough.'"

"If you like," Paolo laughed,
"and if you think it would impress him more."

The chief, Conte Felano, received them coldly, standing. He acknowledged the introduction to Paolo with a bow, accepted the document and, perching himself in the middle of his fat face, read deliberately and slowly the document in Italian which Paolo had given him. "In Section C," he asked, "does the word 'civilians' include members of the administration of the Fascist Socialist Republic?"

"It does," replied Paolo.

"I regret to say that the Protect and other high officials have already left the city. The rest are leaving with the German Headquarters, so I am powerless to stop them."

"That you can explain to Allied Military Government, when they arrive."

"We were worried," Rossini said, as he welcomed Paolo back.
"It's nearly eight o'clock. How did the meeting come off?"

"Well enough," Paolo replied.
"I had Colonel Cao's car drive around in the country a bit to make sure the meeting wasn't a trap and that we were being followed. But I guess Felano was too frightened. Seems funny they should be afraid of us now."

"When you look back," Luchino said, "we really haven't accomplished much, have we?"

"I don't agree," Luchino. Paolo replied, "Ninety-five out of a hundred intelligence projects always fail; it is in the nature of the beast. Forget our failures, for a moment, and let's count our successes." He counted off on his fingers. "The wooden tanks, first and foremost; second, a more or less steady stream of information about enemy troop movements."

"How shall I introduce you?"

Third, we saved three people's lives with the Vatican exchange of prisoners. Fourth, we successfully landed another mission.
Tony's fat Ladispoli. And last, we got you and Cicco safely returned dozens of Allied escapes through the lines.
"A lot of the credit is due to Felice and her father—and a lot to Cicco and his boy. But most to you two. Without you, my coming to Rome would have been a washout."

Luchino, embarrassed, changed the subject abruptly. "How about a ship's pool on the date of the arrival of the Allies in Rome—10,000 lire each—"

"—on nine days beginning tomorrow," Rossini added. "We can draw them out of a hat."

Paolo drew May 28, June 2 and June 3; Luchino, May 29, May 30 and June 1; Terenzio, Rossini, May 31, June 4 and June 5.
On Sunday, May 28, Rome was full of stories that the Allies had already broken through the Cassino line and were about to occupy Frosinone. Livia excitedly brought back reported he had overheard on the street.

That night the first German heavy equipment, withdrawing from the Anzio beachhead, rolled back the farm along the Via AP, dead on its way north.

"and if you think it would impress him more."

The chief, Conte Felano, received them coldly, standing. He acknowledged the introduction to Paolo with a bow, accepted the
document and, perching himself
in the middle of his fat face, read deliberately and slowly the document in Italian which Paolo had given him. "In Section C," he
asked, "does the word 'civilians'
include members of the administration of the Fascist Socialist Republic?"

"It does," replied Paolo.

"I regret to say that the Protect and other high officials have already left the city. The rest are leaving with the German Headquarters, so I am powerless to
stop them."

"That you can explain to Allied Military Government, when they arrive."

"We were worried," Rossini
said, as he welcomed Paolo back.
"It's nearly eight o'clock. How did the meeting come off?"

"Well enough," Paolo replied.
"I had Colonel Cao's car drive around in the country a bit to
make sure the meeting wasn't a
trap and that we were being followed. But I guess Felano was too frightened. Seems funny they should be afraid of us now."

"When you look back," Luchino
said, "we really haven't accomplished much, have we?"

"I don't agree," Luchino. Paolo replied, "Ninety-five out of a hundred intelligence projects always fail; it is in the nature of the beast. Forget our failures,
for a moment, and let's count our successes." He counted off on his fingers. "The wooden tanks, first
and foremost; second, a more or less steady stream of information
about enemy troop movements."

"How shall I introduce you?"

asked Cao.

"As what I am—an American officer—Lieut. Paolo Macdonough."

"Yes?"

"How is your father?"

"Fine."

Colonel Cao interrupted. "Here
we are, at Conte Felano's house.
If you don't mind, I'd better call
you 'Lieut. Col. Macdonough.'"

"If you like," Paolo laughed,
"and if you think it would impress him more."

The chief, Conte Felano, received them coldly, standing. He acknowledged the introduction to Paolo with a bow, accepted the
document and, perching himself
in the middle of his fat face, read
deliberately and slowly the docu-

Across the Counter

W. E. White, Jr.

"What if I got badly injured in a car accident by someone with no insurance while I'm on vacation this summer?" asked Joe.

"Does my auto insurance pay for injuries to my family in the event of this type of accident?"

"You have the medical payments coverage, up to $1,000 per person. But there is one additional feature you should add. It's called the Uninsured Motorists coverage. It provides bodily injury protection up to $10,000/$20,000 limits, regardless of where you might be in the United States when the accident occurs. At least one state, Oregon, requires this feature in all auto policies."

"Sounds good," Joe said. "Does it cost much to add?"

"No, just a few dollars," I replied. "$8.00 to be exact."

"How can the insurance company afford to write it for that?" Joe asked.

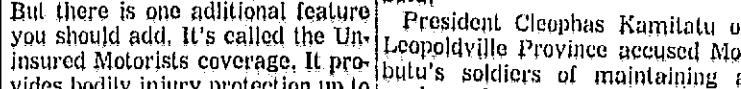

"The company settles with you, but then proceeds against the other motorist," I replied. "The insurance press recently reported a judgment against an uninsured motorist in favor of an insured company. It requires him to make monthly payments for 20 years."

"I see," Joe said thoughtfully. "Add the Uninsured Motorist coverage to my policy."

May we discuss Auto Insurance coverages with you?

Divinity Student Still Draws Fire

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Everett Kennedy, a divinity student, criticized me a while back for advising a newly married couple to go to another town for the impending arrival of their baby. He wanted the young people to stay and face the home-town gossip. He said that in counseling them to do otherwise I would be condoning a lie.

I disagreed on the grounds that an unborn child who could not speak for itself should be given first consideration. Reader reaction was immediate. The letters still come. I print some of the silliest in this column on the theory that the situation is one which conforms many young couples to day.

"Anti-Victorian" of San Jose, Calif. agrees with me that "To be worthy of the ministry, one should be a little more compassionate." She says, "I trust that Mr. Kennedy is a truly honest, righteous and inflexible individual. However, I feel that this so-called Christian influence (as well as most other religious influences) has unfortunately created moral standards which make such a sin out of illegitimacy that it causes people to justify their mistake in some way to save their respect."

"If God had not desired babies to be born out of wedlock, He would have made it impossible to have them. Therefore, marriage is merely a man-made, artificial routine which has taken on much symbolic influence."

"Why should we make such a big issue if a baby is born sooner than nine months after marriage? Why can't we throw off this standard which has been so firmly planted in our culture?"

Back McClellan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Re-election of Sen. John C. McClellan, D-Ark., has been recommended by the nonpartisan National Committee for a Representative Congress. Six other senators were given similar recommendations.

Helpful of Port Payne, Ala.

has this to say: "Like yourself, I think Mr. Kennedy is being too hard on these young people who have made a mistake and are trying to do the best for all concerned. They have things tough enough without adding to their misery by telling everyone their private affairs and publicly renouncing themselves. If this is true why do we have priests sworn to complete secrecy? I see no reason for jeopardizing their unborn baby's future and wrecking their own lives."

"Why is this young man so bent on having them publicly proclaim their sin? After all it is not for others to judge. Only God has this right and He already knows and will forgive when asked."

Nixon Program to Be Delayed

NEW YORK (AP) — The Columbia Broadcasting System has agreed to delay until Oct. 27 televising Vice President Richard M. Nixon's taped appearance on "Person to Person."

The show originally had been scheduled for next Thursday night.

A CBS spokesman said that Nixon's press representative, Herbert G. Klein, had requested the postponement last Saturday. No reason was given.

The appearance of the Nixon family is to be taped Wednesday with the interview of the vice president and Mrs. Nixon to be held in the Waldorf Towers here. The Nixon daughters will appear at their home in Washington.

Democrats Make Money Off Game

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Democrats are getting a financial boost from the Arkansas-Mississippi football game.

Dan D. Stephens, state chairman for the Kennedy-Lewisson ticket, has two 50-yard line seats he'll give to the person who makes the largest contribution to the Democratic campaign.

The game, a sellout for weeks, already has added $400 to Democratic coffers this way. James T. Gooch of Arkadelphia got that contribution Tuesday with four 50-yard line tickets.

Stephens said Wednesday he hated to give up the tickets, "but the campaign needs the money."

And while Gooch said he'll still see the game from the end zone, Stephens said he would have to listen to it on the radio.

Groundbreaking on Rubber Plant

BATESVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Ground will be broken Tuesday for a $13 million dollar Seiberling Rubber Co. plant to be built here.

The firm's president, J. H. Seiberling, will make his first visit to Batesville for the ceremony. Also invited were Gov. Orval Faubus, Winthrop Rockefeller and William P. Rock of the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission, and C. Hamilton Moses, retired Arkansas Power & Light Co. president.

Batesville and Seiberling officials will meet Monday in Little Rock to sign contracts.

Porkers Under No Illusion About Old Miss

By JACK HAND

Associated Press Sports Writer

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) —

Frank Broyles, a soft-spoken charmer, has only the very best to say about the Mississippi football team. It just so happens that his Arkansas team is playing in beaten Ole Miss Saturday night in Little Rock.

"Mississippi is the best college football team I've ever seen," said Broyles in his modern office in the Arkansas fieldhouse, next door to Razorback Stadium. "And Jake Gibbs (Mississippi quarterback) is the best college football player I ever saw."

While he talked, the red-haired coach fiddled with a dagger-type letter opener as though he would have liked to plunge it through the Mississippi line.

"We looked at their films and listened to the scouts who saw four of their five games and we decided they have taken the human element out of football.
They're just a machine."

"They line up on defense and just blow through you. Their line is big and fast and aggressive on defense. They try to give you a bad play, pop the line and put immense pressure on the passer."

Let the ball game be called off, the subject quickly was shifted to Arkansas.

"We're a little bit different than the average college team. There is not a boy over 200 pounds in our starting lineup. We are small so we have to make up for it in quickness, desire and effort. On offense we run from the wing back or slot with balanced line 95 per cent of the time."

The statistics show that Arkansas has given up more yardage than it has made on the ground.
Its chief hope seems to be in the passing of George McKinney or Billy Moore.

"We are not a great passing team," explained the 35-year-old Broyles. "But we feel we had better be prepared to throw. If they gang up on our running game as they have done on others, they can force you to pass."

All right, coach. How about the ball game. Can you win it?
"Little by little our boys have won the hearts of everybody in Texas (they beat Texas last week in a 24-23 thriller) and in Arkansas by the way they play. Certainly, we have a chance to win.
We do not have as many weapons.
But anything can happen."

Among the "weapons" that Arkansas does have is Wayne Harris, a 190-pound senior center from El Dorado who played 59 minutes against Texas in a dis regarded

Texas Fan Apparently Can't Take It

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—A former University of Texas athletic director and now a UT mathematics professor has denounced the field officials at last Saturday's Texas Arkansas football game as "in-competents."

But Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles and Abilene Curtis, supervisor of Southwest Conference officials, said they noted nothing in-regular about the officiating. Texas coach Darrell Royal had no comment.

Broyles branded "ridiculous" the charge by H. T. Edlinger, supervisor of Southwest Conference
officials, said they noted nothing in-
regular about the officiating. Texas coach Darrell Royal had no comment.

poor football and not a violation after he is on the ground and the ball is dead is a flagrant violation of the rules and should be dealt with by competent officials."

"This was not done last Saturday afternoon. Texas had four players, (Ray) Poage, (James) Saxton, (Drew) Morris and (Johnny) "Treadwell" laid out by unsportsmanlike and illegal use of knees and feet on backs and heads by Arkansas."

Furthermore, the close guarding of a receiver of a forward pass by two men is not a violation of the rules but good football. This was ruled interference by one of the group of incompetent officials last Saturday."

Broyles said he saw no unnecessary roughness on either side and added that the game was well officiated. He said examination of game films would refute the charges.

"My conscience is clear," Broyles added. "We don't play dirty football."

Wants Term Limit

SHERIDAN, Ark. (AP)—The Grant County Farm Bureau, with the Arkansas Farm Bureau Federation to sponsor legislation to limit a governor to a single four-year term.

In another resolution adopted at its annual meeting this week, the Grant County organization also expressed doubt that Arkansas state university should be in the south-or central part of the state.

An attempt to get university status for Arkansas State College in Jonesboro provoked a sharp fight in the 1959 legislature. The effort failed by a narrow margin.
